OKLAHOMA CITY THUNDER NOTES

KD En Fuego: Prior to his season-low 12 points versus the Dallas Mavericks on 12/16, KD pieced together nine consecutive games in which he recorded 25 or more points. The nine-game scoring blitz of 25+ points is the longest streak of that kind in the NBA this season (LeBron James and Chris Bosh both posted seven consecutive games of 25+ points scored). During the nine-game stretch (11/24 through 12/14), KD averaged 30.7 points on 48.7% shooting (94.0% free throw shooting; 78-83). Last season, Durant strung together two seven-game streaks in which he tallied 25+ points.

Select Company: If Kevin Durant were to maintain his current 27-plus scoring clip throughout the remainder of the season, he would find himself amongst some select NBA company. Only FOUR players age 21 or younger (as of season's end) have gone onto average 25-plus points. To the right is a list of all players to accomplish the feat.

NBA's Top Scoring Averages (age 21 or younger)
	Year	PPG	Team
Kevin Durant	2009-10	27.2	OKC
LeBron James	2005-06	31.4	CLE
LeBron James	2004-05	27.2	CLE
Tracey McGrady	2000-01	26.8	HOU
Carmelo Anthony	2005-06	26.5	DEN
Rick Barry (S.F.)	1965-66	25.7	S.F.

Race to 4,000...and Beyond: Kevin Durant, the NBA's 4th leading scorer (27.2 ppg) became the second youngest NBA player (behind LeBron James) to reach 4,000 career points scored as he knocked-down a 17-foot jump shot midway through the first quarter during the Thunder's recent contest versus the Boston Celtics (12/4). It took Durant all but 173 games played in his young career to reach the 4,000-point plateau. Based on his current scoring clip, Durant is on pace to reach the 5,000 career points list later this season at Minnesota (2/21).

New and Improved: Through the first two months of the NBA season, Thunder second-year guard Russell Westbrook has shown an improved all-around game. During his first 26 contests, Westbrook is averaging 15.9 points, 6.6 assists and 4.7 rebounds in 34.5 minutes per game. Only a select number of NBA players have maintained such averages throughout the course of an entire season. Below is a list of those second-year players to average 16-plus points, 6-plus assists and 4-plus rebounds during their sophomore NBA seasons.

Second-Year Player Averages (last 10 years)
	Year	PPG	APG	RPG
Russell Westbrook (OKC)	2009-10	15.9	6.6	4.7
Chris Paul	2005-06	17.3	8.9	4.4
LeBron James	2003-04	27.2	7.2	7.4
Dwyane Wade	2003-04	24.1	6.8	5.2
Gilbert Arenas	2001-02	18.3	6.3	4.7
Steve Francis	1999-00	19.9	6.5	6.9

Winning with D: Despite their 95-90 loss to the Houston Rockets on Saturday night, the Thunder ranks 7th in the NBA by allowing 95.8 points per game (allowed 103.1 points per game last season). The Thunder has held their opponent to 90 points or fewer in eight-of-twenty four games this season (7-1 record in such contests). Oklahoma City also ranks 6th in opponent field goal percentage by allowing their opposition to shoot 44.5%. Lastly, defense is quickly becoming the trademark during Thunder victories this season. In the thirteen Thunder wins (SAC, DET, ORL, LAC, SA, MIA, WAS, UTA, MIL, PHI, GS, MEM and DET), OKC is allowing only 91.4 points per game on 42.8% shooting.

Road Warriors: With their win over the Heat in Miami (11/17), the Thunder won three straight road contests in the first month of the season. As a point of reference, the OKC franchise failed to win three consecutive road contests in each of the last two seasons. With twelve road games already under their belt, OKC owns a 6-6 record away from the Ford Center despite their loss to the Rockets at the Toyota center on 11/19. Last year, the Thunder won a total of eight road contests and it took OKC until March 22nd (at MIN) before the team would claim their sixth road win.

Youth Movement: The Thunder entered the 2009-10 season as the second youngest team in the NBA with an average age of 25 years and 130 days (as of opening night). They trail only the Memphis Grizzlies who boast an average age of 25 years and 92 days. Additionally, the OKC opening night (10/28) starting lineup (Durant, Green, Krstic, Sefolosha and Westbrook) was the youngest in the league with an average age of 23 years and 179 days. For a matter of comparison, the age of the average NBA roster is 26 years and 329 days and the oldest team in the league entering the 2009-10 season was the San Antonio Spurs with an average age of 29 years and 73 days. There are currently eight players on the Thunder roster age 23 or younger.

Back-2-Back Sets: With their defeat at the hands of the Rockets on 12/19, the Thunder wrapped-up their fifth back-to-back of the season. So far this season, OKC recorded a "split" in four of their first five back-to-back pairings. On the year, the Thunder is 3-2 on the first night of a back-to-back and 1-4 on the second night. Last season, the Thunder posted an 8-28 record in their back-to-back pairings (3-15 in first game, 5-13 in second game).

Filling up the Ford: The Thunder began the 2009-10 season right where they left off... with another sellout. Those that made up the capacity crowd of 18,203 on opening night (10/28) in Oklahoma City were greeted with a new and improved Ford Center. As part of a taxpayer funded initiative passed in March 2008, numerous arena improvements were recently completed. The Ford Center now boasts a state-of-the art scoreboard, new terrace suites and a courtside club to go along with a new and improved Thunder locker room. Last season, fans from near and far flocked to Oklahoma City to witness Thunder basketball. During the Thunder's inaugural season in OKC, the Ford Center recorded 18 sellouts (19,136) including eight consecutive to end the season. In 41 home games, the Thunder's average attendance topped the 18,700 mark (11th best in the NBA), accounting for an average capacity of nearly 98.0%. This season, the Thunder has sold-out nine of their first fourteen home contests. The Thunder is drawing an average crowd of 17,922 through the first two months of the 2009-10 season (98.5% capacity).

Century Mark: On December 2nd versus the Philadelphia 76ers, Thunder guard Russell Westbrook notched his 100th career game in memorable fashion. In 34 minutes played vs. Philly, Westbrook recorded a season-high 15 assists, marking the 14th time in his career in which he has reached double-figure assist totals. By posting 11 double-doubles (points and assists) through his first 100 career contests, Westbrook becomes one-of-twelve active players to have accomplished the feat. He joins the likes of Jason Kidd, Chris Paul, Allen Iverson and Deron Williams by posting 11-plus double-doubles comprised of points and assists through his first 100 career games played.

Technically Speaking: With three (individual) technical fouls called through the first twenty six games of the 2009-10 season, the Thunder continue their run of being one of the fewest "T'd-Up" teams in the league. During the 2008-09 season, 11 individual technicals (excludes defensive technicals) were whistled on Thunder players and coaches. This total was the fewest awarded to any NBA team during the season. In addition, the Thunder committed 31 total technical fouls (includes individual and defensive 3-second technicals) which tied for the fewest in the NBA (San Antonio). This total also represents the fewest "T's" committed in the NBA since the 1997-98 season (Golden State; 22).

Early Returns: After recording double-figure assist totals nine times during his rookie season (2008-09), Russell Westbrook has already posted five 10-plus assist performances through the first seven weeks of the season. Westbrook, who currently ranks 9th in the NBA with 6.6 assists per game, has increased his assist total after averaging 5.2 apg during his rookie season. Oklahoma City is 5-0 this year when Westbrook records 10+ assists.

KD in Rarified Air: With his 28-point performance on 11-of-22 shooting versus the Jazz in Utah, Kevin Durant became just the fourth player in league history, joining LeBron James (twice), Shaquille O'Neal and Michael Jordan, to score at least 400 points during the first 15 games of a season at age 21 or younger. Red-hot scoring streaks are not unfamiliar territory to Durant. Last season prior to his injury at Dallas (2/27), Kevin Durant found himself on a scoring tear seldom witnessed by a second year NBA player. In the 17 games prior to his injury (1/16 vs. DET through 2/24 vs. LAL), Durant posted a scoring average of 32.3 points per game. During this five-week long span, Durant led the NBA in scoring by a 2.4 point per game margin (LeBron James; 29.9 ppg). It had been 35 years since a second-year player last averaged 32+ points across a 17-game span (Bob McAdoo; 34.7 ppg during the 1974 season).

Defending When it Matters: During the Thunder's 83-79 victory over the Los Angeles Clippers (11/11) at STAPLES Center, OKC held the Clippers to just 10 4th quarter points on 15.8% shooting (3-19 FG's). The 10 points surrendered in the 4th quarter is the fewest allowed since the 2006-07 season when the OKC franchise held the New Orleans Hornets to an all-time franchise low six 4th quarter points. Through the first 26 games of the season, the Thunder is limiting their opponents to 22.8 points during the final 12 minutes of regulation. In the thirteen Thunder wins, OKC opponents are shooting just 40.9% (100-244 FG's) in the fourth quarter.

Harden Heats Up: After failing to record double-figure scoring totals during his first 11 NBA games, OKC rookie James Harden broke-out to score 10+ points in nine of the last fifteen Thunder contests (including five straight from 11/18-11/27). During the last 15 games, Harden is averaging 12.6 points on 42.5% shooting including 36.5% shooting from behind the 3-point arc (19-52)...During OKC's win versus the Washington Wizards on 11/20, Harden came off the bench to record his then season-high 25 points on 8-of-11 shooting as he single-handedly outscored the Wizard's reserves (25-20). In the Thunder match-ups vs. Orlando (11/18) and Washington (11/20), Harden connected on 10-of-13 3-point field goals including seven consecutive makes during this two-game stretch. The seven consecutive makes ties a rookie record for the most consecutive 3-pointers converted by a first-year player since Michael Dickerson made eight straight for the Houston Rockets (5/4/99-5/5/99). His six 3-point makes at Orlando (11/18) tied a rookie franchise record (Rich Frahm; 12/20/03).

Strong back-2-back Showings at the Ford: With their 127-108 victory over the Wizards on 11/20 and their 108-90 win over the Milwaukee Bucks on 11/27, the OKC franchise won back-to-back home games by 18-plus points for the first time since November of 2004 (Nov. 5th – 10th). During this two-game home tear, the Thunder averaged 117.5 points on 50.3% shooting (48.6% 3-point shooting). The 127 points scored versus the Wizards on 11/20 was the most recorded in regulation (excluding overtime) by the OKC franchise since February 21st, 2001 (127-98 win vs. DEN).

Perfection from the Stripe: During OKC's loss to the Sacramento Kings (11/10), Kevin Durant recorded a game-high 37 points in large part due to his efficiency from the charity stripe. Durant set a franchise record by converting 18 made free throws without a miss (also a NBA season-high). Setting all-time franchise records from the free throw line is not unfamiliar to Durant. Last season versus the Los Angeles Clippers (1/23/09), KD converted 24 made free throws (on 26 attempts) en route to a 46-point performance at STAPLES Center. Durant's 24 made free throws set a Thunder franchise record. In addition, Durant set a NBA season-high for most FT's made during the 2008-09 season. In doing so, Durant became one of only four players over the last 20 years to convert 24+ FT's in a single game (MR; LeBron James: 24-of-28 on 3/12/06).

First Impressions: With their 102-89 victory over the Sacramento Kings on October 28th, the OKC franchise secured their first opening night victory since 2003 when they defeated the Los Angeles Clippers 109-100 in Saitama, Japan. During the Thunder's wire-to-wire win at the Ford Center, Russell Westbrook set a career-high with 13 assists to go along with 14 points and seven rebounds. With his 13 assists, Westbrook single-handily matched the entire assist total for the entire Kings team. The last time an OKC franchise player matched the entire opposing team's assist total occurred in 2006 when Luke Ridnour handed-out 13 assists in a 110-106 defeat vs. the Portland Trail Blazers. The Thunder enters tonight's contest versus the LA Lakers with a record of 13-13 which is the best start for the OKC franchise through the first twenty six games since the 2004-05 season when the team started the season with a record of 20-6.

Let the Balloting Begin: Thunder forward Kevin Durant, forward Jeff Green and guard Russell Westbrook all appeared on the 2010 NBA All-Star Ballot which was unveiled last month during a special tip-off event in Dallas, the Official Host City of NBA All-Star Weekend 2010. Voting will take place at all Thunder home contests at the Ford Center for games played between Sunday, November 15 vs. the LA Clippers and all the way through Oklahoma City's match-up with Indiana on January 9th. The Thunder trio can also be voted-in via online balloting at thunder.nba.com which begins immediately and continues on through January 18. The 2010 NBA All-Star Game will be played at Cowboys Stadium in Arlington, Texas, before an expected crowd of more than 80,000 – the largest group ever to witness a live basketball game, on Sunday, Feb. 14, 2010.

Lots of Magic at the Ford Center: During the Thunder's 102-74 victory over the Orlando Magic on November 8th, OKC held ORL to 30 second half points on 29.4% field goal shooting (10-34 FG's). The 28-point margin of victory represents the largest Thunder win in Ford Center history. In knocking-off last season's Eastern Conference Champions, the Thunder shot a season-high 57.1% while handing-out a season-best 27 assists. Meanwhile, Orlando shot a season-worst 36.8% while converting a season-low 25 made field goals. Orlando was held to fewer than 75 points for just the third time in the last three-plus seasons. With the victory, the Thunder notched their third win of the year. It was not until December 19th of last season (vs. TOR) before the Thunder would claim their third win.

What Lazy Days of Summer?: The Thunder was the only NBA team to participate in multiple summer leagues this past off-season. Seven players currently on the Thunder roster saw action in the Orlando Pro Summer League (July 5-10) and the NBA Summer League in Las Vegas (July 10-19). Thunder second-year guard Russell Westbrook and OKC Rookie James Harden were both named to the 2009 Orlando Pro All-Summer League First-Team. In addition, Thunder forward D.J. White received second-team honors for his performance in Orlando. In four Orlando Summer League contests Westbrook posted averages of 22.3 points (.519 FG%), 3.5 rebounds and 7.8 assists in 32.3 minutes per game. Harden, the No. 3 overall selection in this past summer's NBA draft participated in a total of nine summer league contests and recorded averages of 14.7 points (.506 FG%), 3.3 rebounds and 2.4 assists in 27.9 minutes per game.

Country First: The OKC trio of Kevin Durant, Jeff Green and Russell Westbrook were all invited to participate in the 2009 USA Basketball Men's National Team mini-camp held in Las Vegas this past July. In preparation for the 2010 World Championships and the 2012 Olympic Games in London, USA basketball hosted the three-day event which included an intra-squad Blue vs. White scrimmage on the final day. Thunder Head Athletic Trainer, Joe Sharpe was also invited to participate in the Team USA event.

Summer Oversees: Both Nenad Krstic (Serbia) and Thabo Sefolosha (Switzerland) spent the summer months representing their counties as they competed in the 2009 EuroBasket Championships held in Poland. While Sefolosha and Switzerland participated in the Division B bracket, Krstic helped lead the Serbia team to the Championship Game vs. Spain in the upper Division A bracket. In nine EuroBasket contests, Krstic posted averages of 13.4 points, 4.8 rebounds and 1.6 assists in 23.4 minutes per game. Meanwhile, Sefolosha played in four games for the Swiss team and compiled averages of 15.8 points, 6.5 rebounds and 3.3 assists in 37.3 minutes per contest.

Young Guns: During the 2008-09 season, the Thunder registered a majority of their scoring from either first or second year players. In fact, OKC rookies and second year players combined to score 4,780 of the 7,952 total Thunder points. This total represents 60.1% of the OKC points scored, the highest percent of any team in the NBA during the 2008-09 season. The last team with a higher percentage of points coming from rookies and second year players occurred during the 1997-98 season when the Boston Celtics received 68.7% of their scoring from a young team which included the likes of Antoine Walker, Ron Mercer, and Walter McCarty.
